

Education considered as an 'Artefact'

Samstag, 13. September 2025 13:50 (20 Minuten)

In my presentation I will discuss Herb Simon's theory of the 'Sciences of the Artificial'. I will suggest that it is possible to construe 'Education' as an Artefact of our encounters with the environment of social, political and economic policies.

In light of this perspective, we might reconsider the vulnerability of teachers and young people, and whether we are victims of forces beyond our control or if we have agency and levers for change.
